I'm specialised in web design and visual marketing. This means that I can do user friendly websites and visually appealing graphics. My skills I have learned by hard practice while leading a design studio Raccoonbox. Design and creative field is not the only skill that I'm good at. I do have lots of charisma and ability to do performances and speeches. I have led couple of associations as a chairman and represented many times my employer with great success. My native language is Finnish but I also speak fluent English and Russian which makes me great person to be your company's link to customers abroad.

Healthy body and mind is the best that a company can get when hiring a new worker. Sport for me is a very necessary part of being good at work. That is why I do gymnastics no less than three times a week.
